

Assoc. Prof. Marko Komac, Ph.D., currently an independent consultant and an Associate Professor for GIS I and GIS II at the School of Environmental Sciences, University of Nova Gorica, and occasionally visiting Associate Professor at courses GIS in geology and Statistics I at the Faculty for Natural Sciences, University of Ljubljana. Between 2006 and 2014 Marko was the director of the Geological Survey of Slovenia where he also worked as a researcher. From 2012 to 2016 he was a Vice-President of the IUGS, and in years 2011 and 2012 he was the President of the EuroGeoSurveys. He has more than 18 year experiences in the field of landslide analyses, geographical information systems (GIS), application of remote sensing in geology, spatial analyses and modelling, geostatistics, mass-movements analyses. He's an author or co-author of over 470 bibliographic units mainly from the above listed research areas.